

Rommel's Army in Full Retreat to Escape Destruction

Democrats Salvage Bare Majority Out of Congress Sweep

Brightest Hopes of G. O. P. Forecasters of Vote Exceeded

(By The Associated Press)

Nearly complete returns from Tuesday's elections today disclosed the Republicans had drained off the formidable Democratic majorities in congress to a level that might ebb in their favor on important legislation and had about divided the 48 state governorships equally with the Democrats.

Their gains in the congressional and state contests exceeded the brightest hopes of Republican forecasters and almost turned the Democrats out of even nominal control of the house.

Late returns showed that Democrats had taken 219 house seats, one more than a bare majority, but had suffered a net loss of 42 members as compared with the present house. Republicans had elected 208 representatives, a net gain of 41. In the minor parties, the Progressives had elected two representatives, a net loss of one seat, and the Farmer-Labor and American-Labor parties had held to one seat each.

Four Races Undecided

Four house races still were undecided today.

In the present house, which continues until the end of the year, the Democrats have a majority of 93 over the Republicans and five minor party members. Their peak was in 1937, with 333 to 89.

With only one senate contest outstanding, that between Senator Murray (D-Mont) and Wellington D. Rankin (R), the Republicans had gained nine new senate seats without losing one to the Democrats, and the latter had lost eight. Independent George W. Norris, Nebraska, also lost to a Republican.

Wherry. The Democrats elected 15, which with 41 holdovers, gave them a total of 56 in the new senate starting January 3. Republicans elected 18 and with 20 incumbents not up for reelection gave them a total of 38. The senate's lone Progressive, LaFollette of Wisconsin, was not up this year.

This Democratic majority of 17 or plurality of 18 over the Republicans compares with an existing majority of 34 or plurality of 36. Lowest majority in recent years was in 1933 when the division was 59 Democrats and 36 Republicans. Highest was in 1937 when it was 75 Democrats to 17 Republicans.

17 GOP Governors Of the 33 governorships at stake, including that in Maine which elected Sept. 14, the Republicans won 17, the Democrats 13, and Progressives one. Two were still in doubt—in Idaho and Wyoming. Counting holdovers, the Democrats now will have at least 23 governors, the Republicans 22, and Progressives one.

Technically of course the Democrats retained control of both houses of congress. However, dependable working majorities cannot be counted on by the administration at all times when it is considered that party members do not vote solidly, particularly on domestic questions.

Besides the veteran Norris, the new deal lost in the elections such supporters as Senators Herring of Iowa, Lee of Oklahoma, Brown of Michigan, Smathers of New

Peoria Cripple Kills Mother, Fires House, Then Takes Own Life

Peoria, Ill., Nov. 5—(AP)—The bodies of Frank Toucher, 33, and his mother, Mrs. Mary Toucher, 60, were found in the flaming ruins of their West Peoria home today and Coroner H. F. Diller said it was apparently murder and suicide.

The coroner said Mrs. Toucher's head had been smashed with a blunt instrument and that Toucher had died from a small caliber rifle bullet through the head.

Diller said that the fire was discovered by Duane Vick, 15, who lived next door, but when he rushed over to warn the occupants, he was met by Toucher with the rifle and told "to get the hell away from here."

Firemen summoned by Vick found the bodies. Neighbors told Diller that Toucher was a cripple and had expected to go to a hospital today for treatment. Toucher had worked in a factory.

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

London, Nov. 5.—The allied triumph in Egypt gives strong hope that we are witnessing the beginning of the not far distant end to Hitler's hold on North Africa.

The Nazi all-higher also is having visions of disaster, for Berlin claims a "remarkable concentration" of British warships and transports at Gibraltar.

The Vichy government is reported to be holding conferences about North Africa and from Rear Admiral Luetzow of the German naval staff we get this:

"Casablanca, on French Morocco's west coast, is a danger spot far overshadowing Dakar.

"Africa swarms with United States agents whose gaze turns to Casablanca."

Is Hitler conjuring up bugbears to torture his sleep? He will know in due course and so shall we. Mentime, it is a most comfortable feeling to see him worry.

We must temper our natural optimism with caution because there is hard and bitter work to be done before the axis armies are annihilated. That is the task before us—the destruction of Hitler's fighting machine in all northern Africa.

Once before we had our dreams when Wavell drove defeated enemy columns far to the westward across the desert.

But the axis still was strong then and the allies weak. Indeed, just at the crucial moment, Wavell had to rush troops off to the defense of Greece, thereby depriving him of a chance to follow up his victory.

Now, however, the Hitlerites are weaker and the allies much stronger. The Nazi chief and his minions are on the down grade.

Certainly the forces under Gen. Sir Harold Alexander must be as potent as they pursue and hammer what a British communiqué described as the "disordered columns" of the enemy. When you talk about "disordered columns" in retreat you are talking about a "rout," which is one of the greatest disasters than can befall an army.

Axis casualties already have been heavy. These must be climbing rapidly as the shell shocked German and Italian soldiers retreat across the blazing sands which themselves greedily soak up

Triple-Slayer Killed in Gun Battle With Police

Chicago, Nov. 5—(AP)—A 43-year old steel worker who killed his estranged wife and two men in Gary, Ind., was shot to death by police yesterday after a gun battle in the south side Negro district. The four persons slain were Negroes.

Detective Sgt. Peter Billick of the Gary police who described the slayings in Gary as the climax to a "family feud," said the steel worker was Walter McClam of Gary. Those slain were his estranged wife, Ada, 36; Alfred Dodge, 18, a roomer in her home, and Sylvester Douglas, 37, McClam's brother-in-law.

After the triple murder, McClam fled to Chicago and sought refuge in the basement flat of a relative. Police trapped him there and when he attempted to escape he shot and wounded Policeman Edward R. Anderson. He fired at other officers as he hid under a pile of refuse.

Several police squads from other stations joined the fight and McClam was fatally shot.

Mayor Slothower Asks That Every Ounce of Scrap Metal Be Turned In

Mayor William V. Slothower today addressed the following notice and appeal to his "Fellow Americans" of Dixon:

You responded most generously in our recent campaign for funds for the U. S. O., for which our committee thanks you most sincerely.

In the recent drive for scrap metal, conducted by the Dixon Evening Telegraph, you did likewise.

However, because of the absolute necessity of procuring every available piece of scrap metal before winter sets in in order that our steel mills may operate to full capacity to supply our men at the front with the necessary implements of warfare, it is imperative that another intense campaign for scrap metal be conducted.

Accordingly a large group of

Republicans' Rule of Legislature Is Tightened Tuesday

Party Leaders Vision Victory at Polls of State Good Omen

Chicago, Nov. 5—(AP)—The Republican triumph at the Illinois polls Nov. 3 was regarded by the party leaders today as an omen of "Republican successes to come."

C. Wayland Brooks, junior senator from Illinois, was returned to the senate, defeating his Democratic opponent, Rep. Raymond S. McKeough with a plurality of 200,000 votes. Other Republicans followed his lead to win four statewide races, gain three seats in congress, and hold control in the state legislature.

Ben L. Berve, the GOP state chairman, said the outcome of the election was "further proof of a swing away from the radical new deal."

Democrats held an advantage in Cook county, home of the powerful Kelly-Nash organization, but heavy Republican voting downstate swamped them in the final count.

The hardest fought ballot battle was between Benjamin Adamowski, youthful but experienced Democratic contender for the office of congressman-at-large, and Stephen A. Day, who won by approximately 75,000 votes.

William G. Stratton, Morris, Republican congressman-at-large defeated W. D. (Don) Forsyth, Democrat, for state treasurer.

Vernon L. Nickell, Republican, Campaign Superintendent of Schools, unseated John A. Wieland, two term Superintendent of Public Instruction, for that office.

Four congressional posts went to GOP candidates, although the party lost one seat in congress-at-large because of the reapportionment.

Fred E. Busby, Third district (Chicago) Republican, downed Rep. Edward A. Kelly, his Democratic opponent; Sid Simpson, 20th (Jacksonville) district Republican, defeated Rep. James M. Barnes; Calvin D. Johnson triumphed over Harry C. Odum in the 22nd (East St. Louis) district; and in the Centralia (23rd) district Rep. Laurence F. Arnold was bested by Republican Charles W. Vursell.

Republicans, therefore, will dominate the Illinois congressional delegation 19 to 7.

Control of the board of trustees of the University of Illinois also went to the Republicans.

FBI Men on Stand at Treason Trial

Chicago, Nov. 5—(AP)—The government today submitted at a treason trial testimony intended to refute Walter Froehling's denial that he knew money to be used in sabotaging American war industries was hidden in a small zipper bag in his home.

The testimony was given by two FBI agents, Bennell Robe and John A. Lynch, at the trial of Froehling and five other persons on charges of treason. Froehling, his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Hans Haupt and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Vergin are accused of giving aid and comfort to Herbert Haupt, Nazi saboteur, before his capture and execution.

Robe and Lynch described how they and other agents searched the Froehling home the night of June 27.

7,000 U. S. Troops in Egypt on Hallowe'en

Cairo, Nov. 5—(AP)—The arrival of 7,000 American troops and a large unit of nurses in the land of the Pharaohs on Hallowe'en night, was disclosed for publication last night.

The troops formed the largest body of American soldiers ever sent to the Middle East in one transport and they made the long voyage from New York without the loss of a single man.

They included a variety of technically trained specialists, ground crewmen for United States air force units, machinists, engineers and members of the quarter-master corps, the medical corps, the signal corps and ordnance, hospital and postal men.

The new arrivals were under the command of Colonel John E. Baird of Providence, R. I.

Nurses and men agreed on one thing above all—they got tired of the mutton they were served.

Marine Makes Most of What He Has at Hand; It's History

An advance base in the South Pacific, Oct. 18—(Delayed)—(AP)—At a critical moment in the defense of Guadalcanal three days ago a marine pilot made an unprecedented dive with his patrol plane and released two torpedoes that certainly sank one Japanese transport.

The pilot was Major Jack Randolph Cram, Seattle, and his dive was made while Japanese troops were landing in daylight only 10 miles down the coast from the air-drome.

Dive bombers in the same attack accounted for two other transports out of a total of six that came in with troops, equipment and supplies that morning, after Japanese warships, planes and artillery had pounded the air-drome area continually for two straight nights in a big scale effort to knock the heart out of the Marine beachhead.

That was on Thursday morning. The Marines and their newly arrived helpers from the Army hadn't slept since Monday night. Their runways were damaged and fresh Japanese troops were landing by the thousands ten miles west of their left flank. Something had to be done—even if it meant hooking aerial torpedoes to the lumbering Catalina flying boat which was built for long

8 Ordnance Workers Escape Injury Today

Eight Green River Ordnance defense plant workers miraculously escaped serious injury at 6:45 o'clock this morning, in a two car collision on U. S. highway, route 52 about two miles north of Sublette. One car was reported to have attempted to pass the other, both coming north, when the machines sideswiped.

The passing machine, driven by Larry Bradner of LaSalle, locked bumpers with the car driven by Junior Heider of Clinton, Ill., and Bradner's machine, in which six plant workmen were on their way to their employment, turned completely around and rolled over on its top. Heider's car was thrown against a steel embankment and thrown completely from the highway.

Fortunately none of the eight occupants of the two cars suffered serious injury, although all were bruised slightly. The cars were so badly damaged that they had to be pulled apart by wrecking cranes and hauled to garages.

Pilot Finds Plane on Beach, Returns to His Base in New Guinea

Somewhere in New Guinea, Nov. 5—(AP)—A young California flyer who bailed out of his fighter plane, over the New Guinea jungle yesterday returned to base today in a plane he found abandoned on a beach. With him was a young native boy who served as a seat cushion.

Field attendants stared unbelievably at Pilot Lieutenant James Miller of Salinas, Calif., previously listed as missing, climbed from the plane and then lifted out the young booby (native).

It happened like this: While on a fighter mission over the jungle Miller encountered severe weather and bailed out. He landed without mishap and was picked up by some natives who led him to the abandoned plane.

The plane had no seat. A native boy climbed into the cockpit, and Miller seated himself in the boy's lap. This enabled him to see, and he made a difficult takeoff from the beach, arriving safely back at his base.

Allies Batter Japs for Fresh Gains in Southwest Pacific

Nips' Vice Around Air Field on Guadalcanal Is Pushed Apart

Washington, Nov. 5—(AP)—Persistent battering of the Japanese by land and air gave American and allied fighters fresh ground gains today in besieged Guadalcanal and New Guinea.

Further widening an attempted Japanese vise that threatened to close on the American-held airfield in Guadalcanal, United States Marines and soldiers forced back the enemy's western flank, capturing about 20 machine guns and two small field artillery pieces in the process.

In New Guinea, westward of the Solomon islands, allied troops under Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Australian command overcame "strong enemy resistance" and plunged on through the jungles toward the Japanese coastal base at Buna.

The Navy reported the continued American advances in Guadalcanal last night. Supported by Army and Navy planes, the United States forces inched forward on Monday (South Pacific Time) to relieve the pressure on the important airbase.

Japs Manipulating At the other end of the newly installed enemy vise, east of Henderson airport, recently landed Japanese troops presumably were manipulating for a thrust at the springboard of the American assault on the foe's ships, troops and installations. Last night, however, the Navy said "there is nothing to report."

For obvious reasons, the Navy gave no hint of what reception the American forces were preparing for the Nipponese fleet in event of its return to the Solomons battle area.

The enemy warships, which disappeared after suffering heavy damage Oct. 26 in a major air-naval engagement east of the Stewart islands and about 260 miles northeast of Guadalcanal, were expected to reappear in "formidable" numbers, Secretary of Navy Knox has said.

MacArthur's headquarters reported today (Australian time) that the Nipponese New Guinea invasion which in late September had penetrated as far as 32 miles from the allies' Port Moresby base, now had been pushed back several miles beyond Kokoda, midway point across the island's 120-mile waist.

31 United States Sailors Lost in Sinking of Ship Off South America

An East Coast Port, Nov. 5—(AP)—Thirty-one crewmen perished when their United States merchant ship sank 90 seconds after she was torpedoed off the north coast of South America, late in September, 19 survivors reported on their arrival here. The Navy announced the sinking today.

Survivors told naval officers they attributed the heavy loss of life to the fact that although a general alarm was sounded following the attack, no order to abandon ship was given. The crew waited in orderly fashion for the order until only a few moments remained in which they believed it possible to launch lifeboats.

Five New Infantry Divisions Will Be Added to US Army

Washington, Nov. 5—(AP)—The Army disclosed plans today for adding five new infantry divisions in the next two months, while Secretary of War Stimson spoke out against what he called the "pre-war mentality" of those who insist on requiring a full year's training for younger draftees.

Referring to a senate-approved amendment to the bill to draft 18- and 19-year-olds requiring such a minimum of training for them, Stimson told his press conference that "national disaster may result" from such restrictions on the Army. He added:

"Frankly, the gentlemen who framed this amendment couldn't have heard of Pearl Harbor—or that would appear to be the case. It assumes a pre-war mentality, assuming that no enemy will force our hand. But who can foretell for certainty our course in the present war?"

"The basic trouble with the requirement is that it puts shackles on the war effort and flies in the face of human experience in war."

Army Over 4,500,000

The one year training requirement would mean, he contended, that the Army would be forced to play safe, and build up divisions headed for fighting fronts with older men, many of whom have dependents, leaving behind those best fit and most eager to fight.

The activation of five additional infantry divisions in November and December would bring the strength of the Army to some four score divisions and well past 4,500,000 men.

Stimson told his press conference that these divisions would complete the Army's 1942 expansion program, which called originally for organization this year of 32 infantry and five armored divisions. However this program contemplated in overall strength of approximately 2,600,000 men.

The secretary already has announced orders for activation of nine, instead of five, armored divisions this year, and although he would not disclose the number of infantry divisions, he said the program had exceeded the original goal of 32 new divisions in 1942.

Of the five divisions announced today, one the 103rd infantry division, to be activated this month at Camp Claiborne, La., will be commanded by Brigadier General Charles C. Haffner, Jr., of Lake Forest, Ill.

Soldiers Discouraged From Writing Strangers

Washington, Nov. 5—(AP)—Secretary of War Stimson explained today the Army discouraged soldiers from answering letters from unknown correspondents because such correspondence afforded an easy method of espionage.

A number of correspondence clubs have been organized in good faith to write letters to members of the armed forces. Stimson told his press conference, and many people were unable to understand the war department's opposition.

"The fact of the matter is that striking up acquaintance with soldiers through good will organizations is one of the oldest techniques of espionage," Stimson said.

"Rommel still has plenty of room on his chessboard and can move as he likes," Nazi quarters said.

In London, Field Marshal Jan Christian Smuts, prime minister of the Union of South Africa, declared the developing rout of Hitler's African forces might provide "the turning point in this war."

Allied fliers told of enemy troops "scattering like cockroaches" as British and American warplanes flew low over the battlefield, bombing and machine gunning the dazed axis armies.

Italians Ask Truce

Dispatches said the Italians had asked for a truce in one sector in order to bury their dead.

More than half of Rommel's tanks were reported to have been destroyed in the climactic breakthrough as Lieut. Gen. B. L. Montgomery's army, bolstered by American-made General Grant and General Lee tanks, rolled back the axis line beyond El Alamein, 80 miles west of Alexandria.

Following in last night's communique reporting the sudden collapse of Rommel's once proud Africa Corps—the armored invasion force that only a few months ago threatened to overrun the valley of the Nile—British headquarters today announced:

"The 8th Army continued to ad-

British are Pursuing Routed Forces Over Desert

By ROGER D. GREENE

(By The Associated Press) Official British quarters late today declared the axis armies in North Africa were "busted" and predicted their early destruction as the worst military defeat in Adolf Hitler's career of world conquest unfolded on the sands of Egypt.

These quarters said the British 8th Army and Navy, supported by United States and allied warplanes, were now engaged in what amounted to a mopping up process of the shattered German and Italian armies.

Simultaneously, fresh talk of an allied "second front" reached a crescendo in London.

With the British in swift pursuit, Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's broken armies were reported fleeing westward across the Egyptian desert amid wild confusion, and early unofficial estimates placed axis losses at 40,000 troops killed, wounded or captured.

Front line dispatches said 9,000 axis prisoners had been taken, including Gen. Ritter von Thoma,

Our Fliers in Britain

As Pictured by Clayton Knight

(Editor's Note: Clayton Knight is no stranger to air war. He flew for us in the last World War, won many air battles until shot down by the Germans a short time before peace came).

By CLAYTON KNIGHT
For The Associated Press
London—Daily more and more American fliers are joining the aerial sweeps across the English channel into enemy territory.

They're getting the action they came looking for, whether it's in fighter planes, light bombers or Flying Fortresses.

The daily dispatches tell you what a good account of themselves they are giving. But the picture is even more impressive when you are on the scene this ago, when the first USAAF pilots began streaming in here, the British usually took along on a big sweep maybe half a dozen Yanks out of a total of four or five fighter squadrons.

Now it's the common thing on a similar sweep to find two whole squadrons of fighters piloted by Americans. Many Americans are flying British-made Spitfires, but in the bomber classes they're doing their stuff in their own twin-engine "Bostons" and four-engine Flying Fortresses and the new Liberators.

Listen to this account of one of the "Bostons" exploits. It goes back to last July 4, but it tells the story:

They flew in low from the sea, two Yanks and an RAF veteran, wing-tip to wing-tip, their bellies just above the choppy waves of the English channel.

At the controls of one plane, on the right side of the V-formation, sat Captain Charles Kegelman of El Reno, Okla., watching the lead plane and hugging in close as they neared the sandy shore that was enemy territory.

Out in the glass nose of Kegelman's plane, Lieut. Randall Dorton, Jr., of Long Beach, Calif., strained his eyes for his first look at Nazi-occupied ground.

Up top, Sergeant Bennie B. Cunningham, of Tupelo, Miss., had his twin guns in readiness. At the belly gun, underneath, was Sergeant Bob Golay, of Fredonia, Kans.

These lads were about to have a Fourth-of-July celebration they'd never forget.

Kegelman told later that he was tense and nervous as the three planes roared in toward the low sand dunes.

But as the first bursts of flak spat at them, and Golay's voice came over the inter-communication phone with the words "Give 'em hell, Captain!" Kegelman said he lost all his tenseness.

It was just as well that he did, for before he got home again he was to see the other American crew crash when hit by a shot from a Nazi flak tower, and his own plane just miss the same fate.

One shot struck Kegelman's right engine, ripped off the whole front of it. Down went his plane, down, down until it brushed the ground, sending up a shower of sparks and dust.

Hold Everything

"What's the straw for—machine gun nests?"

The men in the plane held their breaths as the pilot miraculously yanked it back into the air, righted it and plunged on ahead on one motor.

As the plane staggered along, the German gunners in the flak tower poured a stream of fire toward the crippled bird, but Kegelman nevertheless flew headlong at the tower and silenced their guns with his own.

Kegelman and his men got back to their airplane safely.

They were America's pioneers in European air fighting in this war—the first of the USAAF to taste the wrath of the Hun when he is attacked over ground he has stolen and is trying to keep.

Since then, since last Fourth of July, American airmen have participated almost daily in sweeps across the channel to prove their mettle as fighters.

That Fourth of July sortie was a fight and a good fight, but all of the danger isn't over France; some of it's right in England, both in the air and on the ground.

There was the time a light bomber, coming back to its Midlands airbase after a raid, struck a high-tension wire strung from steel towers near the drome. The only damage to the bomber was that the wire sheared off the top of its glass nose.

In so doing, however, the wire snatched out the navigator who was in the nose. He was killed.

Two days after I left this air-drome, the commanding officer and all the top men of the squadron, including the new arrival failed to return from a raid.

But it's not all too serious, this air war.

Take Paddy Newton, Paddy, a tail gunner attached to an RCAF night bomber station, returned safely from a particularly dangerous raid one night but half an hour later broke his collar bone in a spill from his bicycle while riding to his hut in the blackout.

"There's no future in flying"—that's the standard expression around the airmen's messes the kids kid each other and joke about death.

"There's no future in bicycling"—that was Paddy's version of the saying after his fall into a ditch.

Letter Reveals Mt. Morris Band Is No Longer at Forrest

Campbells Hear From Son, Member of 129th Infantry Musicians

The following paragraphs are excerpts from a letter received by the George A. Campbells and their daughter, Barbara of 317 Crawford avenue, from George A. Campbell, Jr., member of the 129th Inf. band:

"At last we can write home, and believe me, your problem son has seen so many strange things, been so many different places and done so much this all seems like a story book we used to read when we were kids; or it's just like a travel talk in the movies. I can't describe a lot of it, due to censorship, but believe me, this is really something and worth a million dollars.

"The band is traveling all over the place, staying from three days to a week in one place, then we pack up and move to the next, and believe me, we are really busy and on the move all of the time. We are not only playing for our own fellows, but everyone—soldiers, sailors, and civilians alike. When the concert band isn't working, the dance band is.

Money No Problem
"Money is no problem to us here. First, we have very little opportunity to use it, and second, things are so reasonable. I get my laundry done for from 35 to 40 cents a week in our money. Right now, I am sitting under a big cocoanut tree in shorts and shoes (that's all), and I'm getting blacker every day from the sun. We have been here two days, and this is our camping place since we arrived.

"We in the band eat at the hotels quite often, and that is something. You pay one price and this includes entree, then you go right down the menu till you're full. A dinner costs 70 cents and takes two to two and a half hours to eat.

"I have played three games of golf and one of tennis. The golf clubs are really something, and put ours to shame. You can play nine holes for about 15 cents, and tennis is played on grass greens that are kept up by six or eight men. You can get native labor for about 50 cents a day, and they really work, too. Have been to a couple of homes or plantations as they are called, to parties for the band, and honestly, as long as we have been here, this is perfect.

While we travel, we meet the best and the contacts we get are terrific.

In Little Danger
"There is so little chance of any danger here where we are that cross my heart we are safer where we are here than we were in Camp Forrest. This is just like a strange dream. The customs, people, money—everything is different.

"A bunch of us went to the native church the other night in a native grass hut, and after listening to blood and thunder for about a half hour, were almost flabbergasted when the minister turned to us and said 'and now, gentlemen, I will translate my sermon into English.' Afterwards, we were invited to their village and there they offered us food and drink, which we had to take—wow!

"Then we'd sing our songs for them, and they, in turn, would sing to us and it was truly beautiful to hear."

BIRTHDAYS ARE ONE REASON FOR CELEBRATING

We're celebrating a birthday this month, and we're making quite an occasion of it.

Birthdays are one reason for celebrating. But in times like these, we're likely to forget the many other reasons we Americans have for gratitude and celebration.

In spite of wartime pressures, we still have free choice in every important thing that goes to make up our daily lives.

For example, nobody tells you what to buy, and where to buy it. If you like Penney's, the goods we sell and our prices, you may shop with us. If not, you are free to buy elsewhere. Let us, then, stop to think how much life in America means to us all—and realize how much we have to fight for!

War Production and Scrap Metal in Northern Illinois

In America's production of tanks, guns, ships and munitions, millions of tons of steel are needed. And to meet this demand, the steel mills in this area alone, must have 200 carloads of scrap metal every day.

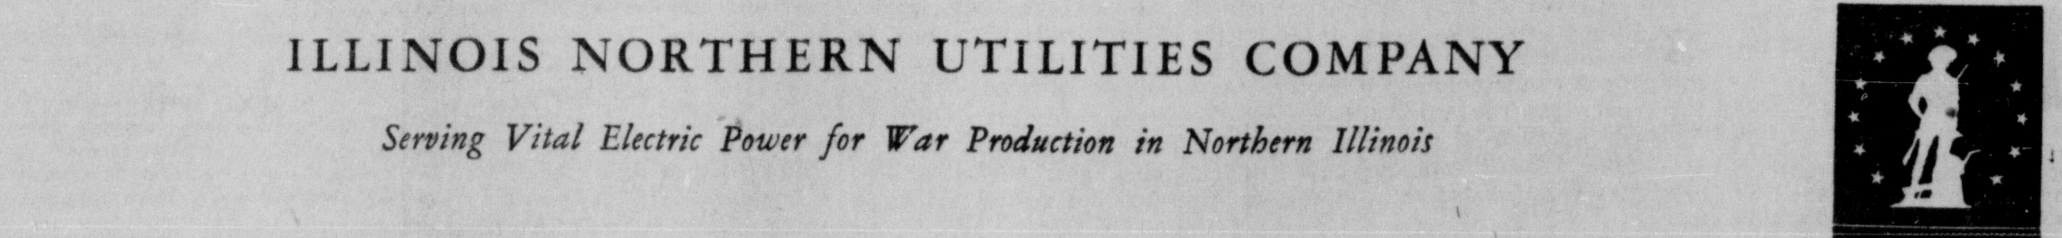

Here is a chance for every patriotic citizen to contribute to victory. The housewife, the business man, the farmer and the industrialist—all can help by salvaging vital scrap metal.

A casual look around your premises is not enough. A thorough search is necessary to round up all the usable scrap metal. So seek out every nook and corner of the house, the basement, the attic, the yard and the garage. Salvage from the office and factory every piece of unused and obsolete equipment that you have been saving for a rainy day . . . because that day is here. And you and every loyal American can help the war production program with every piece of metal scrap you can find.

The photographs reproduced here show how the companies in the electric system supplying Northern Illinois are answering Uncle Sam's call for scrap metal.

(Above) Women employees have been especially active in the search for scrap metal.

B. Association Reviews Work in Lee County in '41

By Esther Barton

With plans now under way for its 1943 program, to be financed by the coming Christmas Seal sale, your local Tuberculosis Association takes pride in reviewing the work accomplished in Lee county in 1942. All those who contributed so generously last year should take great satisfaction in having shared in this work.

You made it possible for us to offer the tuberculin test to every student, teacher and employee in the high schools of the county. Where local conditions made it advisable, this service was extended to include special groups as well. In addition to furnishing material and the services of local physicians for over 1200 tests, seal sale funds paid for chest X-rays given to approximately 100 positive reactors to the test. Cooperation of the County Sanatorium Board made possible special clinics for the prompt examination of these reactors.

15-25 Danger Age

This work among our young people must not stop here—their future welfare means too much to all of us. Tuberculosis strikes hardest at the age group from 15 to 25. Only annual X-rays and regular observation can properly safeguard them. If even one case of active tuberculosis can thus be prevented, the time and expense involved in the observation of many times that number is a profitable investment.

Seal sale funds also pay for educational literature describing every phase of tuberculosis control. Ask for this literature and also for the services of Mrs. Church, your county tuberculosis nurse, in giving talks to interested groups. Your purchase of Christmas Seals make this possible. The Tuberculosis Association, whose 34 officers and directors represent each township of the county, has been organized for the purpose of serving you.

To Permit Decorative Christmas Lighting

Chicago, Nov. 5 — Decorative street lighting in Illinois communities will be permissible during the Christmas season, Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, executive director of the Illinois State Council of Defense, said today pointing out that no dimout restrictions have been imposed in this state.

"Decorative street lighting is not of itself considered objectionable where no dimout regulations exist," Gen. Parker said, "provided in every case such lighting is installed so it can be quickly extinguished."

New equipment or wiring involving critical materials should not be purchased for decorative lighting, he said.

A Thought for Today

Thus saith the Lord of hosts: If thou wilt walk in my ways, and if thou wilt keep my charge, then thou shalt also judge my house, and shalt also keep my courts, and I will give thee places to walk among these that stand by.—Zechariah 3:7.

There buds the promise of celestial worth.—Young.

Realistic Peace Aims Needed

Gabriel Heatter declared in his Sunday evening broadcast that Hitler is up to one of his old tricks, trying to create discord among the peoples allied against him. Heatter says axis spokesmen are spreading rumors that war aims of the United States and Britain are not identical, an alleged fact calculated to stir up distrust.

We can guarantee that war aims of the two governments are identical up to a certain point. Both agree that the axis must be defeated, and any loyal American citizen concurs in this. It is sufficient to know that if we defeat the axis soundly, other peoples inclined to smack us in the Pearl Harbor will know such a pastime is unprofitable.

Beyond victory, it is only natural that the war aims might be divergent. Our own world planners have nothing to lose—no colonies which they propose shall be freed. The British, on the other hand, have vast investments in many countries which they might lose easily in case they grant complete independence to areas they have ruled for decades or even centuries. Negotiation is in prospect. If the negotiations fail, then total independence for these areas might fail. British global aims, being predicated upon negotiations, can not be announced in advance. It is a foregone conclusion that the British did not declare war against Hitler purely for the privilege of making the Atlantic charter a worldwide ideal. The charter did not even exist at the time.

If leaders of the United Nations were to adopt a realistic peace program shorn of Mr. Wallace and his quart of milk and of the Yankee notion that the British are going to surrender everything except Scotland and Wales, it might be possible to hoist Hitler on his own petard. His attempt to divide the United States and Britain could be made to explode in his face.

In a somewhat confusing speech, Felix Frankfurter let go of at least one revealing sentence. He said: "No democratic people can be led into war to promote some social ideal. To promote even the noblest ideals by aggression would be no less aggression than to enlarge boundaries by aggression." The fact that Justice Frankfurter seemed to contradict himself in the next few words doesn't alter the fact that with regard to unified post-war aims, we are drifting hopelessly and giving Hitler something to use for ammunition.

Incomplete Without a Floor

One of the reasons why elderly men are sprouting gray hairs nowadays is the impossibility of making adequate plans about their estates which, considering the transitory nature of this life, they must some day leave behind them.

It is notorious that a large percentage of widows manage to dissipate their whole inheritances in a very short time. Some men try to guard against this by making trust funds or insurance policies payable in the form of stipulated income rather than as lump sums which can be grabbed by glib promoters.

But with the present rise in prices and every prospect that higher taxes will cause a further rise, no one knows how to distribute sums of money over a period of time. There is always the possibility that an income now sufficient to provide a widow's living will not, a few years hence, be enough to pay her board.

There is a ceiling on prices, but it is puncturable for political purposes.

And there is no floor at all. While there is every prospect of more price inflation, there is no guarantee against deflation. If you had funds to invest in a necessary enterprise today, turning out needed goods at a certain price, you might be anxious to invest them if there were not the prospect of deflation which might possibly make your investment look like a plugged nickel—as to returns.

There is uncertainty up, and there is uncertainty down, all because of an administration that tinkers with the law of supply and demand, but is unwilling to apply its substitute rules fairly and inflexibly.

Saved by the Bell

The war isn't over yet, and anything still can happen. But it looks at the moment as though once more the Reds have been saved by the bell, just as the pressure was getting almost unbearable.

In the summer of 1941 the nazis pushed the Russians around, close to disaster, and battered at the doors of Leningrad and even Moscow. Then winter rang the bell.

Last summer, again, if more slowly, Hitler's shock troops drove the Soviet forces back, captured oil fields, penetrated into the outskirts of Stalingrad, announced immediately impending victory with a fanfare of trumpets. And once more—a month ahead of time—the bell has rung.

Apparently Hitler can do anything to Russia but knock her out. Therein lies the hope of the world.

Bad Practice

Washington's growing habit of thinking of the Supreme Court as just another job is deplorable. It detracts from the dignity and usefulness of what every lawyer used to consider a supreme honor.

The newest rumor is that Justice Douglas may become secretary of either war or navy. This follows the drafting of Justice Byrnes as economic administrator, and the temporary absence of Justice Murphy on Army maneuvers, which came not long after Chief Justice Stone declined to head the rubber inquiry.

Appointment to the Supreme Court used to mean more than any position except the presidency. We think it still should.

Money goes a shorter distance these days, but it stays away longer.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON
(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc., reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Washington, Nov. 4.—The Japs were chased away from Guadalcanal again, but they will be back.

Their last sea sally was made up of about 30 ships, a sizeable portion of their fleet, so it is reasonable to expect that the next time they come they will be in even greater numbers.

That they must come back is certain, because they have committed themselves to the support of the troops they have landed.

A tough and dangerous continuing fight for the control of our remote foothold, therefore must be expected, with the final issue in doubt.

Our chances look good, some better than our heavy losses in ships may have led casual news readers to suspect. The loss of the three cruisers we can stand fairly well, but the sinking of those two aircraft carriers was a damaging blow.

The Japs lost two carriers also (one damaged, one sunk) and they are not in a position to stand it as well as we can. They have but two or three regular standard carriers left, two large and one small. In addition, they probably have several carriers converted from merchant liners, which are not efficient for strong action. Give them a minimum of five and a maximum of nine, only two of which are top-rating flat tops.

The official figures show we have three regular carriers from the number with which we started the war, several converted and several building.

The carrier is the main striking implement of sea action, as was shown again in the Solomons tussle. All our sea losses, except those of the two carriers sunk by submarines, were due to air action and, in the latest fight, all ship losses on both sides were wrought by carrier based aircraft.

So in this main striking force we are about even, although we have the edge because the responsibility for attack rests upon the Japanese.

The land fighting has been ferocious, savage, with few prisoners taken on either side. Apparently it took the Marines a little while to get accustomed to the fighting methods of the Japanese, but as the Japs apparently wanted it that way, they are getting it.

Obviously they have no superior strength on land. Their two penetrations of the lines of the Marines were quickly pinched out. They stopped their night landings in small boats after their fleet was forced to withdraw.

So the fight on the sea is likely to decide the issue.

The British drive in Libya is no foray. It has strength and power behind it, yet undeveloped. The first several days of the advance was devoted to cautious, sure penetration of the German mine fields, 3 to 5 miles in depth.

They have used mainly, artillery and infantry, keeping their tanks and aircraft in reserve for heavy action to come when they get through.

For this big fight to come, as the Germans well know, they have carefully planned. They have amassed formidable supplies of aircraft and tanks.

The Germans lately have been hastening aircraft to the front to meet them, flying them over from the Russian front through their Crete base (which has also been expanded to protect nazi supply lines more adequately).

Their aerial and tank activity is suffering from lack of oil supply which will test the inventive genius of the tricky Rommel to the fullest.

MacArthur's strong left arm on the Pacific front has meanwhile been punching the Japs back to the place where their northern shore bases in New Guinea are in danger.

His recapture of the Kakoda airfield has put him in position to open a new area of fighting northward from that spot. Furthermore, the Jap tactics of flanking and infiltration have been stopped.

It is apparent also MacArthur has been getting more planes, because he has been hitting the Jap bases at Rabaul with increasing regularity.

That front looks good.

Winter has closed down on the Jap possibilities of an attack on the Amur river line, just as it is freezing Hitler's drive in Russia, but the Japs still have a formidable force in there, and action is yet possible.

What seems to have happened there is that the Japs got themselves all ready for a drive, expecting the fall of Stalingrad and collapse of the Caucasus, but waited in vain.

They may not try an attack as long as Russia is still a fighting force, which means for this winter at least.

Smith led a pack of pinocle players at the Elks club house last evening to capture first honors and staging a remarkable comeback from the showing he made in a similar event two weeks ago. MOVIE MOGULS

CHAPTER XXIII

THE two distinguished arrivals came straight to Pop's office. And Summers, the newspaperman—trust him to miss nothing!—promptly assumed the privilege of introducing them.

"Gentlemen!" he orated proudly, "this is Abe Loumann and T. J. Natwick from Hollywood. Come shake hands!"

But Loumann and Natwick themselves made the rounds, beaming and talking. Their brusque cordiality here stamped them for what they were—men of power. Natwick, the talent scout, and Loumann, the director, who had helped make World Features, Inc., a great name in Hollywood and throughout the amusement world. If these two men looked twice at any person, it was said, that person became a movie star before next dawn.

Blythe Miller had unconsciously backed behind a steel filing cabinet near the door. There, she was quite blocked out of the masculine ring, a panicky child, crouching unseen. She was about to flee on a desperate mission of her own, but Loumann's voice arrested her.

"Looking for a girl named Nancy Hale?" he was saying now, to Pop. "World Features wants her, quick! The picture magazine people showed us her stills. T. J. and I saw her on the screen last night in St. Louis, too. She's perfect!"

Blythe went wide-eyed. They wanted Nancy!

Natwick spoke up briskly. "We saw her in the newsreels of the A. and M. game, Coach. I already told Abe here about her and her baby. I was down for that game myself, but I wanted Abe to see her, too."

"Don't need any test shots. Newsreels' enough," Loumann resumed. "Where is she? Understood she worked here. Get her quick, T. J. She work for you, Miller? We'll buy your contract. What you pay her? Don't matter, we'll buy it, send you a better office girl."

"YOU'RE a smart man, Abe," T. J. announced.

"Look, T. J., how's this—Sweetheart of the Flying Fields! The Girl Who Keeps 'Em Flying—no, too long—say, the Sky-High Girl. America's Sky-High Girl, Miss Nancy Hale!"

"Okay, okay, but she's Mrs. Hale, Abe."

"Make it Miss. Telephone Baker in New York. Tell him to put publicity department onto it, quick! The Aviators' Sweetheart. Perfect! Phone Baker quick and—"

"Listen, Abe, the girl's a widow with a youngster, but you want her to be a Miss! Now listen, you have to—"

"Your worry," Loumann barked. "Yours and Baker's. Make her famous, quick. Make her beautiful. Make her the Spirit of Aviation. Make her the cadets' dream. Order half a million color stills. Send one to every aviator in the Air Corps, free. Take 20 poses and have 'em in my hotel room tonight. Take her—"

"What about the baby?" Natwick put in.

"Put the baby under contract, too, quick. Start him at $200. Start Nancy at $500."

Pop Miller got in a word. "Hey!"

"Where is she?" Loumann demanded. "Where is she now?"

"Fi—five hundred dollars?" Pop croaked.

Blythe, overhearing all of it, was wide-eyed with interest anew. "Oh! . . . Oh!" She breathed that irrationally.

"Make it $700, then," Loumann tossed at Pop. "And $500 for the baby, plus a thousand flat bonus for your contract, Miller. T. J., write it an even $1200 a week in her contract. She'll be the baby's guardian anyway, and after we feature her in the first flying picture, we can make it—"

"Hey!" Pop was still incoherent, and by now Elmer Summers was dancing a little jig. None of the other men listening were quite normal, either.

"Where is she at?" T. J. Natwick demanded.

Pop got his tongue. "She—she ain't here now, gentlemen! Just stepped out a minute ago. But she—"

That's all Blythe heard. She knew where Nancy was. Nancy had slipped out a side door 10 minutes ago when she, Blythe, was stalling and waiting frantically for a call from Duane.

"I'll run out to your house now and get Scooter," Nancy had murmured to her in leaving. "Your mother is a darling—wanted him all afternoon. She's knitting him a snow cap. But I want him for supper with the big boys, they're the only kind of daddies he can have. I know they like Scooter, too. Norman brought him a toy motorboat for the bathtub, and Duane is teaching him Indian sign talk—imagine! But I got to hurry! Stick around a while and help Pop, Bly." Then pretty Nancy had breezed away.

FULL importance of the movie men's talk hadn't quite sunk into Blythe. She was too confused by everything. She only saw that the clock said 4:28. And the gamblers were due to reach Nancy's apartment exactly at 5! They could easily slip upstairs now without being noticed. Perhaps—or no! . . . No, Nancy hadn't had time to get back up there to receive them. Not yet!

"Oh-h-h-h, if Duane would only come!" Blythe almost moaned that, squeezing her hands. The movie men, Pop, Summers and the others were still talking excitedly. She heard them only as vague sounds.

"I can't wait any longer! I've got to do something! Now!" Desperate reasoning told her that she would have to do it alone, and that she would have to be prepared for anything.

"I'll need—I'll just have to have a gun. If that one Pop—no! No, he has it under his coat! All this week. But those gamblers will do anything. And I must catch them and show them up! I . . . that closet—it's a clothes closet! If they are to hide in there—!"

It was a crazy sort of plan shaping in her fevered mind, but it began to show faint possibilities. All she lacked was the gun.

Unnoticed by the rather hysterical gathering, she slipped around to Pop's desk. Quietly, she opened his middle drawer. She felt inside. When her hand came out it held the short, stubby timer's pistol used in football games. It was a real .38 caliber, but of course it was loaded only with blanks. It felt strangely comforting to Blythe now. It was real enough, in appearance at least, to bluff any man.

Attracting as little attention as possible, she slipped back around the men, out the same door Nancy had chosen, and ducked under the shrubbery now touched with autumn snow. In a moment she was tiptoeing up the gloomy stairs to Nancy's apartment.

Fair Enough by WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Nov. 4.—On Oct. 5 I received a carbon copy of a letter from Dr. A. E. Bennett of Omaha to a third person relating his experience with a strike at the University of Minnesota hospital. The strikers, he said, were building service workers.

The letter said:

"I was called Oct. 4 as a consulting neurologist to Blank, Minn., where I examined a woman critically ill with a serious brain disorder which necessitated an emergency brain operation of very delicate nature in order to save her life. We took her by ambulance 180 miles to Minneapolis, expecting to admit her to the University hospital. The surgeon selected met us and was ready and anxious to help the patient, but we were unable to get the patient admitted because of the strike.

"Because of the nature of the operation, it could not be performed successfully in any other hospital in Minneapolis or St. Paul.

"In her desperate condition we were then required to take her by ambulance to the Mayo Clinic at Rochester. This meant a delay of 24 hours before obtaining proper care which should have been accomplished in six hours. It may very well have cost this patient her life.

"Verification of these facts may be obtained by calling Dr. H. C. McPheeters, 63 South Ninth st., Minneapolis.

"This situation makes one wonder how much the American public is going to stand from haughty labor organizations before calling a halt. It seems to me that striking a hospital in order to obtain union recognition, thus causing unnecessary suffering to ill patients and endangering life, is about the last straw."

There is a little time lag in my correspondence, but precisely I wrote to Dr. McPheeters for his version of the case.

Dr. McPheeters' reply is at hand today.

This is what he says:

"The facts related in your letter (meaning the carbon copy of Dr. Bennett's letter which was sent to him) are true and accurate.

"The patient did go to the Mayo Clinic. They made all tests possible and many that could have been avoided and finally at the end of six days came to the same conclusion that Dr. Bennett did. They did the operation just as Dr. Bennett had urged.

"At the operation they found that she did have the malignant tumor of the brain and that nothing could be done. She did not survive the operation.

"Statistics prove that she had a 50-50 chance of the tumor being a simple hemorrhage in a brain cyst and this could be removed, with a complete recovery. It was for this purpose that the operation was advised by Dr. Bennett and later done by the Mayos.

"I had a conference with Gov. Harold Stassen the next day after the patient was here. I reported the entire situation to him and he finally was able to intervene and get the strike settled. Up to this time they had not permitted him to help at all.

"It seems to us that strikes like this against the hospitals when the lives of patients are at stake should not be permitted, by legislation."

The fact that the patient was doomed, as ascertained by later developments, was not known at the time of her arrival at the Minneapolis hospital and surely will not be permitted to confuse the case or abate the enormity of the blockade. Though the unfortunate woman could not get well, the fact remains that in her stricken condition she was required to travel still farther when she had already covered 180 miles.

If any further comment is desired, roll your own.

It's Patriotic Now To Spend Your Penny

Chicago—It's patriotic to spend pennies since the U. S. mint halved copper coin production, George M. Eisenberg and Walter V. McAdoo, Jr., co-chairman of the salvage committee, Illinois State Council of Defense, said today.

Coins taken out of "hiding" in children's banks and elsewhere, they said, will help meet an unprecedented demand for minted money, and guarantee the mint's curtailment program.

McAdoo cited the recent statement by Nellie Taylor Ross, director of the mint, that 1,000 tons of copper can be saved for war uses if an estimated 33,000,000 families each put 10 pennies back into circulation.

Deaths

GEORGE M. COHAN

New York, Nov. 5.—(AP)—George M. Cohan, 64, one of the most beloved characters in American show business, died early today after a long illness.

The "Yankee Doodle Dandy" of America, who produced and appeared in many memorable stage productions and who wrote songs that have come to be considered part of the American story, died peacefully at his home, 993 Fifth avenue, Manhattan, at 5 a. m. (EWT), three hours after he passed into a coma.

He had been ill for one year. At his bedside were his wife, Mrs. Agnes Cohan; his son Private George M. Cohan, Jr.; his daughters, Mrs. George Ronkin, and Helen and Gertrude Cohan, and his old friend, Gene Buck.

Cohan, once aptly described as a "drama practitioner," was dancer, actor, dramatist, producer, manager, composer and lyricist, motion picture and talkie star in a career that extended over more than 40 years. Also he was something of a poet and was always a baseball fan.

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, quoting Victor Hugo's dictum that melodrama was for the crowd, tragedy for women and comedy for the thinker, once said that Cohan's genial satire and fun-provoking lines and antics had helped men and women to become thinkers in the modern American theater.

Cohan's efforts ran the gamut from being a boy prodigy violinist at the age of 5 to recognition in his mellow years as America's keenest stage interpreter of contemporary life. "There aren't twenty people who really know the man," one commentator wrote, "but he knows more than 5,000 intimately."

Composed "Over There" in New York he was "the man who owns Broadway." To the theatergoers of a generation ago in other cities he was the embodiment of his "Yankee Doodle Boy" song in "Little Johnny Jones." To his countrymen generally he was the composer of the World War song "Over There."

All told he wrote some forty plays, collaborated in the framing of thirty more, turned out more than 100 songs, close to 200 vaudeville sketches and about a score of poems.

Cohan was born in Providence, R. I., to the popping of firecrackers and the waving of flags on July 4, 1878. His parents were troupers of old school variety shows, Jerry Cohan and Helen Costigan. A daughter, Josephine, was also born to them and the family later became noted for its "act" as The Four Cohans.

Became Child Actor
But before that stage was reached the son had blossomed out as a child violinist, billed as "Master George." He quit this within a few years to become a child actor, having his first regular lines at the age of 9 in a play about "Daniel Boone." Two years later he toured in the title role of "Peck's Bad Boy," a comedy based upon the humorous writings of a former governor of Wisconsin.

His sister and parents meanwhile traveled with various road companies but the family came together in 1910 and for ten years played back and forth across the country in variety theaters from Tony Pastor's in New York to the old Orpheum in San Francisco. They rarely failed to have booking for 52 weeks in the year.

George started writing songs and vaudeville sketches in this period. He once said that he wrote 150 of the latter while he was between 17 and 21 years old. Instead, however of selling them outright for the standard price of $50, he introduced the system of demanding royalties of from $10 to $25 a week on each as long as the sketch lasted.

Formed Partnership
In 1901 he wrote, composed, directed and produced "The Governor's Son" which took the four Cohans into legitimate theaters. Shortly thereafter he and Sam Harris formed a producing partnership which in the next fifteen years put on more than 50 comedies, plays and reviews, with and without music.

At one time the partnership controlled five theaters in New York and one in Chicago. The association ended in June, 1920, and thereafter, Cohan continued for years "on his own."

Cohan long resisted all blandishments to get him into film plays but succeeded in 1915 for a brief contract that resulted in three silent movies and, in 1932, he made his first talkie. "It's my last one too," he said when he returned from Hollywood to his beloved Broadway.

Cohan was married twice. His first wife was Ethel Levey, who became his dancing partner with "The Four Cohans" after his sister Josephine married. A daughter, Gertrude, was born to them. The marriage was dissolved in 1907. The second Mrs. Cohan was Mary Nolan. They married July 4, 1908. Their children were Mary Helen, Helen Frances and George Michael, Jr.

WHITE HOUSE SILENT

Washington, Nov. 5—(AP)—The White House was silent today on the Republican gains in Tuesday's elections. Presidential Secretary Stephen Early was asked about the results and replied: "I have not talked to the president about the election, and I'm sure you would not be interested in my own views."

COMMENT ABOARD

New York, Nov. 5—(AP)—Berlin today broadcast accounts of the United States elections which interpreted them as a sharp setback for the Roosevelt administration.

No comment by German spokesmen was broadcast and the interpretations, under Stockholm and Paris datelines, were attributed to Swedish and French journalists.

The Paris newspaper Le Matin reported the elections under a headline, "Sharp Warning to Roosevelt," a Berlin broadcast said. It added that an editorial in Le Matin was headed: "United States Voters Torpedo White House with Roosevelt on Board."

FOR "COALITION"

Washington, Nov. 5—(AP)—Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich) demanded today a "real coalition" in congress in interpreting Republican election gains as a mandate from the people to pigeon hole "new dealism and all other policies" for the duration of the war. "If the administration is wise, it will swiftly move toward a real coalition," Vandenberg declared in a statement. "It will deal more openly with both congress and the country. Congress itself should not create a unified 'committee on war cooperation'."

The election, he said, "clearly means that the country is not satisfied the way the war is being run."

The Republican party he said, had not made its gains "on its own account," but because "the country demands strict accountability from its government in this business of winning this war."

Sen. Connally (D-Tex) attributed Democratic reverses to public impatience with the prosecution of the war and resentment against government bureaus.

Allies Batter Japs

madly for cover in the New Guinea north coast port.

Twin engined Martin "Marauder" B-26 medium bombers and swift twin-engined Douglas "Boston" A-20 attack planes made two daylight sweeps against the base which the Japanese offense often use as a springboard for bombing raids against allied positions on this island.

"It really did us a lot of good to hammer that place," said Major Donald C. Hall of Corpus Christi, Tex., "we went right down main street, just above the tree tops and caused caused one explosion which appeared to be an ammunition dump."

The B-26's went over first, dropping their bombs, and were followed almost immediately by the A-20's.

New Style Blows

(This apparently was a new style blow against the Japanese in New Guinea, calculated to catch them off guard with an air assault combining speed and power. The marauders are reported to be the fastest planes of their type in the world and the A20's, built to work at low altitude in support of ground troops when used as bombers, serve the British as "Havoc" night fighter planes.)

In other operations today, a Flying Fortress crew had a narrow escape from a freak accident which threatened to send the four-motored B-17 bomber plunging to the ground.

The Fortress was taking off on a mission when the wind pried open a hatch door and released a deflated life raft which blew back against the tail. Fixed to inflate when released, the raft began filling up, freezing the controls.

The pilot, Lieutenant Meville Ehlers of Pharr, Tex., braced against the controls but the plane whipped wildly and plunged toward the ground.

Private Lowell Lee of New York, however, turned a machine gun on the inflated raft, puncturing it and enabling the pilot to regain control. But the plane came back badly damaged.

To Hold Annual East-West Game

New York City, Nov. 5—(AP)—William Coffman, general manager of the Shrine's annual East-West All-Star football game, announced today he had received authorization from Lieut. Gen. John J. DeWitt, commanding the western defense command, to proceed with plans for holding the contest next New Year's day at Kezar stadium, San Francisco.

range patrol work with diving as a sideline and which never was meant to dive on enemy ships through a swarm of Zeroes. It was time to do something unorthodox and that is what Major Cram and his crew of youngsters did. They brought the plane back full of bullet holes but none of them got a scratch.

Sinking Certified

The fact that one transport was sunk by the PBV's torpedoes was certified by Marine and Navy fighter pilots who observed the attack.

Catalinas had delivered torpedoes into ships before—at Midway—but that was at night and not by diving.

Here's Major Cram's account of how he made the most of what he had and made a bit of history:

"We could see those Japanese transports from the air—out there unloading in daylight! That's what got us. I'd never dropped a torpedo before—never been in combat—and my crew—they're really tops—had never fired their guns in any kind of fight—but when the general wanted us to go after those ships with torpedoes we said OK."

"Now, I'm no torpedo man. I asked 'how high' and then, 'what speed' and everything else I could think of and learned all I know about torpedoes in about five minutes."

Describe Dive

"We took off at 10:30 a. m. and circled out past the Jap destroyers. All six transports were lined up nicely close in toward the beach still unloading. We got up to several thousand feet and hit Zeros up there were ready to hit us. We went into a dive. I watched the cockpit go past a hundred knots but couldn't keep my eye on it because I had a lot of other things to do. You see, I didn't have a co-pilot—there weren't enough fliers there for that. We were diving fast. I had to keep going to get there when the dive-bombers did. I glanced at the needle and I was afraid to look at the wings or the tail. We got down to 100 feet, then 75—and then I let the torpedoes go. I don't know how far we were from the ships—just close enough not to miss 'em, that's all I know. I had the transports in front of me with their bows overlapping when I let go. Zeros were diving after us and I saw one putting bursts in the tail of our dive bombers on the way down."

Zeros Followed Him

"The Zeros had followed us down and were letting us have it. At least five came after us and they were hitting our tail. I saw one Zero putting bursts in the tail of our dive bombers on the way down."

"Anti-aircraft fire from destroyers and the transports was heavy and with that, plus the Zeros, I really had to do some maneuvering to get out. It was a green crew and I didn't want to get them killed. I made a flipper turn—a sharp bank that puts the wings perpendicular to the field, ground—and got back to the field. It's a good thing the field wasn't far because our fuel tanks were both shot up and one was leaking badly. I don't know why we didn't catch fire. We just got back by the grace of God—nothing else. The left tire went out when we landed."

Service Station Robbed— The Butler and Scanlon service station on Third street and Galena avenue, was broken into during the night and about 40 pennies taken. A window of a rest room was jimmied to gain entrance and the office ransacked. The robbery was discovered when the station opened for business this morning and was reported to the police, who were making an investigation.

Bonds Sales Over Quota— During the month of October, total War Bond sales in Lee county amounted to $211,143.75. Oliver L. Gehant, general county chairman announced today. The quota for the month was $154,100.00. Lee county's record is now six consecutive months of sales exceeding the quota fixed by the U. S. Treasury Department and Chairman Gehant believes that this fine record will be maintained as long as is necessary to help finance the war effort.

To High School Conference— Principal B. J. Frazer of Dixon high school and Coach A. C. Bowers left this afternoon for Champaign to attend the annual State High School conference. Principal Frazer will be meeting with the Principal's association in executive session at 6 o'clock this evening, and Coach Bowers represents the Rock River district on the physical education committee. The sessions will be concluded tomorrow evening.

"1. The date or hour of departure of any group of selectees, and whether the departure is by railroad, street car or other conveyance."

"2. Figures on the number of men included in a quota by one or more local boards."

"3. The names of men who have already been inducted in the Army through the local board or boards or one or more communities."

"4. The names and classifications of registrants who have been classified by one or more local boards. (Boards have been directed not to release this information in the future.)"

Plans for Nursery School Formulated by New Commission

Plans for a nursery school, which will be available for preschool age children were formulated at a meeting held last evening of the commission recently appointed by Mayor William V. Slothower.

The school will be intended primarily for children of working mothers and if adequate funds and staff can be obtained, it is hoped that the school may operate from an early morning hour until late in the evening.

To finance the project, it will be necessary to make an appeal for funds and it is hoped that federal aid may be secured to supplement the amount thus raised. It is also anticipated that it will be necessary to ask the parents of children who receive care in the nursery to pay a nominal amount that will cover the actual cost of food.

In order that contributors to the fund may receive credit for income tax purposes, it is planned to form a non-profit corporation. This corporation will also apply for a license which will be required for the Illinois Department of Public Welfare and for federal funds. Funds under the so-called Lanham Act will be granted by the federal government only after a definite and positive showing has been made that all local sources have been exhausted.

Committees Named
At last night's meeting, committees were appointed to arrange for the incorporation of the commission and for a campaign for funds.

A nursery school was operated for several years in the South Central school as a WPA project but the space occupied became necessary for class rooms on account of increased enrollment this fall and the school is now being operated on a limited basis in the Woodworth school at the corner of Sixth street and Nachusa avenue.

Due to the inability to obtain the necessary janitor and other necessary assistants from WPA rolls it will probably be necessary to discontinue the school until arrangements have been made for the establishment of the school on the new basis. It is expected that the Woodworth school will be used for the new nursery school unless a more central location can be obtained.

Offered Cooperation
Robt. Lohr, the county engineer, was "more than willing to let us search the place, signed a waiver to permit search and offered us every cooperation."

A 20-year-old girl who lived at the Wergin home testified yesterday she frequently heard statements there disparaging the United States and praising Hitler.

The witness, Miss Lorraine Demmler, also testified that the Wergins knew that Herbert Hans Haupt, one of the six executed German saboteurs, had gone to Germany with their son, and that he had been a visitor in their home after his secret return to this country last June.

She testified that Haupt, 22, accompanied by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hans Max Haupt, also defendants, came to the Wergin home last June 21. Previous testimony showed that was shortly after young Haupt's arrival in America with seven other nazi agents on a mission of wartime sabotage. Miss Demmler said that the Haupts remained in the Wergin home for several hours and conversed in German.

Questions on statements made in the Wergin home extolling Hitler and Germany were allowed to be answered after Judge William J. Campbell overruled a defense objection on the ground that these statements were made after Germany and the United States were at war.

The other two defendants are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wilhelm Froehling, young Haupt's uncle and aunt.

Newcomers Plan Party for Their Husbands, Nov. 11

Members of the Welcome Wagon Who's New club were planning a November party for their husbands, when they met for luncheon yesterday in the Guild room of St. Luke's Episcopal church. The event is to be a scramble supper at the Elks club on Wednesday evening, Nov. 11, the date having been advanced from Nov. 18.

Thirty-six clubwomen attended yesterday's meeting. Luncheon was served by members of the church Guild, at tables attractively appointed for autumn.

Mrs. D. C. Bryant and Mrs. William Wolf received the afternoon's contract favors, and Mrs. H. Bredfeldt was fortunate in auction. Mrs. M. Binhoward, formerly of Oak Park, and Mrs. K. Geraghty, who comes to Dixon from Galesburg, were welcomed as new members.

Mrs. George Holland presided during the business meeting. Hostesses included Mrs. L. H. Butridge, Mrs. I. Erdal, Mrs. Paul Stanley, and Mrs. A. H. Cuthbert.

ANNOUNCE MOVIE AT NACHUSA SCHOOL

"Meat and Romance," a sound motion picture film, will be shown for members and friends of the Nachusa Parent-Teacher association at 7:30 p. m. Friday at the Nachusa school.

The picture tells the complete story of meat, from the cost per cut, to nutritional value, and ways of cooking and serving. It was compiled through the collaboration of leading meat and livestock industries and the Bureau of Home Economics of Washington.

The program committee includes Mrs. Floyd Missman, George Stiles, and Mrs. John Maves. The public is invited.

JUNIOR CLASS TO GIVE PLAY

The Junior class of Amboy Township high school will present the three-act comedy, "Don't Take My Penny," at 8 o'clock Friday evening, Nov. 13. The cast of characters includes: Penny, Elaine Stiel; Mark, Jack Neils; also Jack Kellen, Marguerite Garland, Howard Bothe, Wallace Berry, Mary Eisenrich, Phil Keho, and several other members of the class.

Miss Betty Hulson, adviser of the dramatic club, is directing the production, assisted by Mary Croll, student director.

EVENING PARTY

Mrs. C. L. Ballard of 920 Fourth street was showing colored movies of the Ozarks last evening at her home. Her guests included Mrs. Donald Bush, and the Misses Agatha Tosney, Margaret Sproul, Mariam Powers, Grace Louise Crawford, and Lois Fellows.

A buffet lunch was served by the hostess.

Lounging Ensemble

This handsome lounging ensemble consists of a Mexican ocelot fur three-quarter length jacket with tuxedo collar and belt of black cotton duvetyne. The tapered slacks are of black corduroy.

Mrs. Bush Heads Service Mothers

Mrs. Charles Bush was elected president of the Service Mothers organization, a new society for mothers of all men and young women now in the service of their country, at a meeting of about 15 charter members yesterday at the Loveland Community House. Other officers named were:

Vice president, Mrs. E. J. Brown; secretary, Mrs. Charles Edous; treasurer, Mrs. Theodore Boyd. Additional officers will be appointed.

The society's charter has been received, and already boasts about 25 signatures. It will remain open for a 30-day period, and all service mothers are invited to become members.

An invitation was accepted from the American Legion post, No. 12, to join the Armistice Day parade next Wednesday. All mothers of men and women in the service are asked to meet at the Elks club, to march to the high school building for special services in keeping with the day.

The next meeting of the new club is scheduled for Wednesday, Nov. 18.

WAR CASUALTY

The annual Christmas display at the Frank J. Iten home in Clinton, Iowa, which has attracted thousands of visitors during the past 15 years, is to be a war casualty this year. Mr. Iten announces that the exhibit is being omitted because erection of the display requires a crew of men for four or five weeks, (these men, he believes, could be employed to better advantage in the present crisis), and because of gas rationing.

Mrs. Blewfield Reviews Novel

A large and appreciative audience of Dixon Woman's club members met in the Loveland Community House yesterday afternoon to hear Mrs. Floyd L. Blewfield's review of "The Castle on the Hill," by Elizabeth Goudge. Her ability to evaluate and choose episodes and combine them without loss of human interest, characterize Mrs. Blewfield's reviews, which are as entertaining as they are informative.

"The Castle on the Hill" is particularly difficult to review, being without a plot, but composed instead of simple episodes, which are unimportant if considered singly. These episodes touch the lives of all classes of society, and only when they are interwoven with the major events of war, do they assume significance. After each Nazi bombing raid, someone, somewhere, is left homeless and fearful.

Strange events bring strange people together at The Castle, a relic of a Norman castle built after the invasion of 1066. The castle is the property of an eminent historian, and to its sequestered shelter by coincidences of war are gathered a Jew, who is a refugee violinist from Vienna; a spinster from a coastal village; two orphaned children from London; a man and his wife, cottagers of cockney origin, who are caretakers at the castle; an Oxford student, committed to the theory and practice of non-violence; a flier on furlough; and a young woman, beloved by both the student and the flier. The Castle on the Hill is symbolic of a nation set on a hill, standing staunchly against violence and aggression in the dark days of 1941.

The war is the factor changing the lives of all, and bringing into focus a whole set of problems which had gone unobserved through the years. In closing, Mrs. Blewfield remarked that in the head of the spinster, Miss Dolores Brown, "new thoughts were gathering and weaving themselves into a kind of pattern"—and that as surely as spring with its promises will come again, so will there be new life and new love, prophetic of the post-war era.

The club's third book review will be presented Nov. 18, when Mrs. Wilbur Fuels will give her impressions of "Get Thee Behind Me," by Spence.

BRIDGE-LUNCHEON

Mrs. L. H. Cain received her bridge club of 12 at luncheon yesterday. In the afternoon's contract games, score favors were shared by Mrs. Anne Wilson, Mrs. Orval Gearhart, and Mrs. Louis Franks. Mrs. Harry Quick was an invited guest.

Mrs. Franks is to be the next hostess.

Mrs. D. B. Fleuhr Is Leaving for Tampa, Florida

Mrs. Donald B. Fleuhr, the former Miss Ellen Ross, was complimented last evening at the R. V. Ross home at Amboy, where friends gathered for a handkerchief shower as a farewell courtesy in her honor. Mrs. Fleuhr leaves Sunday for Tampa, Fla. to join her husband, a sergeant headquarters office of the signal corps at Plant field.

Games of 500 were pastime. Mrs. Ray Bybee received the prizes for high score and traveling honors, and other favors went to Mrs. Earl Kellen and Mrs. Albert Hillison.

Twenty-six handkerchiefs were presented to the guest of honor. Out of town gift cards read for Mrs. E. E. Schilling of Dixon, Mrs. Vernon Rasmussen of Morris, Ill., and Mrs. Roy Ross Jr. of Jackson, Miss.

P-T. A. Studies Program for Air Raid Defense

Last evening's program for the South Central Parent-Teacher association centered about air raid defense, with two Winnebago county officials as guest speakers. Between 160 and 170 members and guests turned out for the program, which was preceded by a scramble supper in the school auditorium.

George Fruin introduced William Day, commander of civilian defense of Winnebago county, who outlined Rockford's defense setup. Mr. Day later introduced L. J. Daigle, senior air raid warden of Winnebago county, whose subject was "The Home Front Is Our Second Front." "Purchase bonds, be prepared for higher taxes, and take your places in defense," Mr. Daigle urged his listeners.

Three moving pictures, "The Civilian Service," "Illinois at War," and "The Air Raid Warden," were shown. Eighth grade girls exhibited a miniature bedroom, completely furnished, under the direction of Miss Evelyn Schmidt, home economics instructor.

LOVELAND P-T. A. MEETS ON MONDAY

Choral reading by Miss Edith Koch's fifth and sixth graders will entertain members of the Loveland Parent-Teacher association at 7:30 p. m. Monday at the school. The program is also to include a talk, "The Health Program in Our Schools," by Miss Gertrude Wilhelm, school nurse; reports of Junior Red Cross activities and the Red Cross campaign.

TWELFTH YEAR

Mary Ann Sofolo, daughter of the Philip Sofolos of 1021 Fourth street, celebrated her twelfth birthday anniversary on Tuesday with an evening party at her home. Bunco favors were shared by Jean Dulen, Betty Vaile, and Glenna and Gladys Murphy.

A birthday lunch was followed by unwrapping of Mary Ann's gift packages.

Guests were Marilyn Schmidt, Betty Vaile, Patricia Devine, Jean Dulen, Gladys and Glenna Murphy, and Howard Lavik of Rugby, N. D.

BOWLING MATCH

Mrs. James Reiter had high score for the afternoon, when linkswomen of the Plum Hollow Golf and Country club met Tuesday afternoon for their weekly bowling party. Others in the group were Mrs. Ernest Swan, Mrs. George Scott, Mrs. Elwin Wadsworth, Mrs. Frank Hoyle, Mrs. P. J. Malay, Mrs. Henry Jensen, Mrs. Ralph Barlow, and Mrs. B. E. La Voy.

—WE, THE WOMEN—

American Women Are in the Fight Even If They Haven't Shot a Nazi

By RUTH MILLETT

An American woman might feel a little useless, or even ashamed, when she contemplates the achievements of Lieut. Ludmila Pavlichenko, the Russian woman sniper visiting in this country.

She might imagine that a woman who has killed 309 Germans would regard as a little absurd women who are still interested in skirt lengths, and who think they are being terribly patriotic when they whip up a cake using honey instead of sugar or when they ride a bike to the grocery.

Nevertheless if the Russian sniper really got to know the average American woman she wouldn't regard her as a sissy.

Because the average American woman isn't one.

She is ready and willing to do anything that is asked of her.

It isn't her fault that she isn't yet needed for all the kinds of jobs women in some other countries are already doing. She is taking over men's work wherever there is a need for it. And the jobs she has taken over so far she has done well.

Women Stand Ready for Tougher Jobs

When the time comes, she will take over more of men's work and assume more responsibility.

No job looks too big for her to tackle if she is given the chance. And should America be invaded there is no doubt but that she would grab a rifle to defend her home and her children.

American women shouldn't be judged harshly by the women of other countries—even though in comparison they are leading soft lives and having an easy time.

Every sincere, thinking one of them wants to do more to help win the war than she is doing now. And chances are they all will be doing more before the war is much older.

Mila Wohnke Is Shower Honoree at Randall Home

First of the pre-nuptial courtesies that friends are planning for Miss Mila Wohnke, before her November marriage to Elmer Miller of Franklin Grove, was a kitchen shower given last evening by Mrs. Frank Randall and Mrs. C. R. Collins at the Randall apartment, 1125 North Galena avenue.

During the evening, the guests compiled a humorous bride's book for the honoree, and played a series of games. Mrs. Crawford Thomas received the prize in a quiz.

Yellow and white appointments trimmed the refreshment table. Miss Wohnke's gift cards read for Mrs. Edwin W. Merrick, Jr., Mrs. Gordon Bennett, Mrs. Crawford Thomas, Mrs. Paul Black, Mrs. Charles Redebaugh, Mrs. William Lang of Peoria, Mrs. Edward Lawton, and the hostesses.

Miss Wohnke is a stenographer at the Illinois Northern Utilities company. Her fiancé is supervisor of China township.

TO DENVER

Mrs. Leonard Dunne left yesterday for Denver, Colo., her former home, for a month's visit with relatives.

D. A. Deneaus Leave Dixon for Kankakee

The D. A. Deneaus were taking leave of Dixon today and left for Kankakee, where Mr. Deneau, manager of the local store of Montgomery Ward and company for the past four years, has been promoted to the managership of the Kankakee branch. Last evening, 80 employees of the Dixon store were dining together at the Hotel Nachusa, as a farewell courtesy for the Deneaus.

In behalf of the employees, Howard Strong, assistant manager, presented the couple with a desk pen.

E. V. Thunder of Crawfordville, Ind., Mr. Deneau's successor, arrived in Dixon on Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Thunder plan to reside at 503 First avenue, the Deneaus' address.

Ordnance News

by the GREEN RIVER REPORTER

What may be the first of a series of the "job searching for the applicant" expeditions took place the first of this week in the Peru-LaSalle area. Male and female interviewers, as well as R. J. Dusan, employment manager and Miss Jean Ross, assistant employment manager for Stewart-Warner, met with sixty some applicants Sunday between one o'clock and nine in the evening. The interviews were conducted in the Peru Hotel and the response was pleasing despite the inclement weather. Interviews continued Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

This trip, which was probably the forerunner of similar excursions, definitely exposes the need of the Ordnance Plant for all types of employees. Many good jobs are open now at G.R.O.P. and are readily available to the individuals in this area.

At the same time that the employees are hired, as in the case at Peru this week, Mr. Paul Scott, Green River advisor on transportation, facilitates transportation from that area. Additional bus schedules are arranged, car pooling urged and a general attention is made to provide adequate travel facilities for all people hired.

The prospective employee is assisted in establishing himself at Green River by the maintenance of a room, home and apartment list. Suggestions are offered to prospective renters in Dixon, Sterling, Mendota and some of the smaller surrounding towns.

School teachers in a war industry! Yes there are many of them at Green River. A year ago most of them were engaged in their prosaic vocations. Today dozens of the pedagogs are using their teaching experience to train both men and women in specialized operations. Many of the instructors perform technical tasks that years in the class rooms or laboratories have especially fitted them to do. Some of them have leaves of absence, others are here for the duration.

One of the real and unsung heroes connected with construction at G.R.O.P. is the man who approves the type of door for each building and specifies the locks for ordinary doors as well as for those doors which give access to strategic materials. A part of this task requires that a record be kept of the whereabouts of each door key at all times. Thousands of doors and thousands of keys means a complicated system—and most of us have a hard time trying to keep track of the key to our front door.

A question frequently heard has to do with the guard's uniforms. The new dark forest green woolen winter outfit is so attractive that most people have the mistaken belief that they are individually tailored in private shops, at the expense. The new winter uniform is issued cost free to all the guards. The heavy and attractive garb was fitted by personal measurement and each uniform was cut to specification of the individual. A guard force tailor takes care of all this work. A heavy pleated and belted mackinaw coat fits comfortably over all. It replaces a light summer uniform and by far exceeds it in stylish tone.

Landscaping graces and grass seed sowing continues to progress around finished building sites during the favorable fall weather. A heavy cover crop of rye has been included with the red top and blue grass seed broadcast over the seeded areas. In anticipation of the verdant covering expected next spring, several power mowers have been ordered by the purchasing department to control the grass.

Bicycle riders have nearly a dred bicycles at their disposal in various sections of the Green River Ordnance Plant. The service was inaugurated last week for short errand trips and for use in occasions where only one person would be going to a certain station.

Both men and women's models are stationed at the administration building. The service is connected with the inter-area station wagon service, now in operation.

Recently the Illinois State Highway Department conducted a survey at G.R.O.P. to determine the extent of participation in the car pooling movement. At the same time the check was made on the incoming cars, a survey was made of the parking lots to discover the attention given to tire pressure by the average driver. Reports would indicate that nearly all drivers pay careful attention to the condition of their tires. Pressure gauges were used on random cars throughout the parking areas.

While complete figures were not released for the general public the majority of cars carried three, four and five passengers apiece with six to a car occurring quite frequently. About one per cent of the autos carried seven passengers.

In a letter from Wm. Steinwedell, General Manager of Stewart-Warner, to the employees of the Plant, it was urged that even greater participation in the share-the-ride be immediately adopted. The imminence of the gas rationing program and co-operation with the rubber conservation need was particularly cited in his request. The message was published in the GREEN RIVERITE, the Stewart-Warner Plant employees' publication.

Following a number of inquiries, this column has been asked to clarify the popular conception that production workers simulate a rainbow for long periods after they work with any kind of ammunition. There is a certain amount of truth in the statement that workers who specialize in handling several types of materials do notice a chemical reaction in the coloration of their hands and exposed parts of their body. This coloration exists on the surface of the skin and does not go skin deep, as is popularly imagined. Evidence of coloration means the same thing that dirt on the hands mean—the skin has not been thoroughly cleaned. Soap especially compounded for the removal of these discolorations is freely used in the washrooms. It might be added that considerable effort has been exerted to procure the best soap of this nature on the market. After considerable testing, several samples of soap have been rejected for use because it proved harsh for tender skins. The final choice, however, has a soothing effect on the skin and has proven especially good as a cleanser.

It might be added that only a few jobs cause the above described condition to appear at all.

31 State Institutions Told to Salvage Cans

Chicago, Nov. 5—Gov. Dwight H. Green today directed 31 state institutions to salvage tin cans and ship them direct to de-tinning plants.

The governor issued his order in connection with the extension of tin can salvage by the Illinois State Council of Defense to all parts of the state. Heretofore, due to difficulties of collection and transportation, tin can salvage has been limited to the metropolitan area. State institutions in this area, he said, have been co-operating in the salvage program.

Institutions under three state departments—registration and education, public safety, and public welfare, are affected. They include teachers colleges, hospitals and homes, training schools and penal institutions.

Republicans Gain House Seat in Indiana

Indianapolis, Nov. 5—(AP)—A Republican sweep assured that party of a net gain of at least one Indiana seat in the national house of representatives and carried it into the major state offices at issue, unofficial returns from the off-year election showed today.

A G. O. P. victory in the tenth district, where reapportionment threw Rep. Raymond S. Springer (R) and Rep. William H. Larabee (D) together as opponents, edged the Democrats out of one seat and in the eighth district Rep. John W. Boehne, Jr., (D), was threatened with defeat by Charles M. LaFollette (R), Evansville lawyer.

The only Democrats to win election to Congress were Ray J. Madden in the first district and Rep. Louis Ludlow in the eleventh (Indianapolis).

Indiana did not elect for the senate or governorship this year.

Pendegast Machine Fails in Comeback

Kansas City, Nov. 5—(AP)—The remnants of Tom Pendegast's machine, which once voted its men into Missouri's highest political offices, tried to elect one circuit judge and unseat another in Tuesday's statewide election. Both efforts failed.

Machine-backed Judge Marion D. Walthers became the first victim of Missouri's new non-partisan court plan wherein the voter merely answers "yes" or "no" on whether a judge shall be retained in office.

More than 31,000 rejected Walthers although 27,000 favored his retention. The action cleared the way for Republican Governor Forrest C. Donnell to appoint a new judge from one of three names to be suggested by a committee composed of an equal number of lawyers and laymen.

Judge Allen C. Southern, who drew vicious opposition from the Pendegast organization, had a plurality of "yes" votes that exceeded 26,000.

TO HELP FARMERS

Metropolis, Ill., Nov. 5—(AP)—From now until the close of harvest Thursdays will be business holidays for Metropolis.

Mayor Barney N. Beane has asked merchants to close their stores so that each Thursday with their employees they can go to the help of farmers whose crops, he said, "are rotting in the fields because of the critical farm labor shortage."

American-made bombers must hit on all cylinders. So must American-made lunches. Endurance, power, and precision are physical and mental characteristics of the workman whose daily lunch is geared up with vitamins and minerals, energy and attractiveness.

Today's Menu
Sandwiches of Boiled Tongue and Relish on Rye Bread
Carrot Salad
Rice Pudding
Tomato Juice
Milk or Coffee

The more color, the more nourishing is the lunch. Golden carrots signify vitamin A, the eye-sight vitamin. Red tomato juice supplies vitamin C, which makes for quick healing of cuts and wounds and forestalls fatigue. The meat sandwiches supply protein, energy and some vitamin B, while the rice pudding contributes added energy and some of the day's requirement of milk. Milk makes the meal perfect.

Scout Drive Opens Enthusiastically Wednesday A. M.

About fifty enthusiastic Scout drive workers met for breakfast at the Nachusa Hotel at 7:30 yesterday morning to compare last minute details before launching the annual drive for Scout funds.

Walter C. Knack, chairman, commended the many business men and women, who, in spite of multiple problems growing out of war time economic situation, took time out to assist in an all-important youth enterprise. "You are well compensated, however," Mr. Knack stated, "by the knowledge that through such efforts on your part you are safeguarding the future generations of our country."

Fortunately, the Scout drive is one that commands the sympathy of all citizens so that you will not meet with the difficulties that confront many solicitors. People are most willing to contribute generously to this worthy cause, our presence here and your interest in this drive proves that you believe in the future of America. Two million and 750,000 Boy and Girl Scouts also believe in the future of America, and among them are many in our own city who are depending upon your success in this drive to safeguard them so that they can be leaders someday.

Work Reviewed

Miss Grace Ritson, Dixon Girl Scout executive, reviewed the achievements of the local troops which number twenty-two, averaging 25 girls each, with a maximum of 35 to a troop. She said, "We have 360 Girl Scouts with seventy women, troop leaders and Council members, who give voluntarily of their time to serve the Girl Scouts. At the time of Pearl Harbor, we already had a program set up. It remained only for us to apply it to the present needs. The Girl Scouts are actively engaged in defense. Our Brownies, ranging from seven to ten years old, emphasize citizenship, respect for our flag and group cooperation as the basis of democracy. They study first aid, self care, health habits, conservation and thrift, and neighborliness to new children in the community. Intermediates, from ten to fourteen years old, study health and safety, home making, child care, community life, nature, fire prevention, outdoor living, sports and games, arts and crafts, international friendship, and profitable use of leisure. The senior Scouts, fourteen to eighteen, study child care, household science, transportation and communications, serve as messengers. In Dixon, our Service Bureau contacts all other service agencies—Red Cross, hospitals, P. T. A. groups. They bind books for schools, make layettes, distribute defense literature, make scrap books for orphanages, dress dolls for Goodfellows, fill Thanksgiving baskets for the needy, serve as nurses' aides, assist with clerical work at defense offices. Girl Scouts learn to meet emergencies with assurance and poise. They are resourceful, adaptable, and considerate of others. In Scouting we protect girls from neglect, exploitation, and undue strain in defense areas. Through giving them a normal environment we strive toward mental alertness, physical cleanliness and moral uprightness. We try to develop girls to be worthy of the peace for which we are fighting. In Girl Scouting we are keeping up morale on the home front. Let the watchword of our drive be: "Scouting is defense," for this is scouting at its best."

Camp Life Described

Mrs. I. B. Hofer, Dixon Girl Scout Commissioner, was introduced and spoke briefly on general aims of scouting before introducing Marilyn Lievan, a Girl Scout from South Central school, who described Camp John Ralston and camp life there as she had known it.

LeGrand Cannon reported on the progress of the Initial Gifts Committee. H. B. Homan, Boy Scout executive of the Blackhawk Area, told the gathering: "On all the fronts of the world young blood is being spilled, making it incumbent upon us to work for other fine young blood on the home front. It relieves the fighting front to know that the Boy and Girl Scouts are carrying on with the home front. The present generation of youth is the most important one in the 'history of mankind, and this younger group will have to shoulder greater responsibility than was ever dreamed of in the history of mankind. Let us keep youth physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight that we may win the twin victory of the war and the peace."

The Scout drive met with gratifying response throughout yesterday, and workers began the second day's campaign with eagerness this morning.

Chicago Opera Co.
Will Open Season
in "Aida" Saturday
Chicago, Nov. 5—(AP)—The public, the Chicago Opera Company is pleased to learn, still has time to sandwich in a little "Aida" or "Carmen" between weekly first aid classes, civilian defense duties and canteen work.
The company's 32nd season will open Saturday night, Nov. 7, and long lines at the box office windows attested today to a greater advance subscription sale than last year's, a record.
This surprised Fortune Gallo, director, who felt increased income due to the war might boost opera attendance but that the gain would be offset by new and greater demands on the public's spare time, by gasoline and tire rationing and crowded transportation conditions.
"We feared attendance would fall below last season," he said.
"but the subscription sale indicates it will be better."
Five-Week Season
"With selective service and taxes leaving many people undecided as to what to do with their time and money, we felt subscription purchases for a series of operas weeks in advance would be hard hit."
In its five-week season continuing through Dec. 12, the company is offering more performances featuring big name stars such as Lily Pons, Lawrence Tib-bett, John Charles Thomas than ever before.
Gallo said the "big names" were cooperating in every way possible to keep American interest in opera alive during the war.
Miss Pons, who was scheduled to appear in the opening performance as the Brahman priest's daughter in Delibes' "Lakme", is ill with laryngitis and will be unable to sing until next week.
The opera "Aida" will be substituted. Miss Pons' appearance in "Lakme" has been postponed to
Nov. 14.
The performance of "Aida" will have an all-star Metropolitan cast. Zinka Milanov will star as "Aida", the same role in which she opened the Chicago season in 1940. Others in the cast include
Anna Kaskas, Giovanni Martinelli,
Lawrence Tibbett and Alexander
Ippis.
Psychiatrists Describe
Irwin Kadens as Insane
Chicago, Nov. 5—(AP)—Irwin
Kadens, described by the Federal Bureau of Investigation as a
"three state crime wave," was adjudged insane Wednesday and was ordered by Chief Justice John
A. Shabaro of the Criminal court to be committed to the psychiatric division of the Menard institution for the criminally insane.
The insanity verdict was returned by a jury of six men and six women a few hours after two court-appointed psychiatrists, Drs.

Vladimir Urse and John Madger, had reported that Kadens was mentally deranged and unable to distinguish between right and wrong. The report was made after Kadens had been called for trial on a charge of robbery of a local company.
Kadens, who deserted from the Army at Camp Grant, Ill., last
July 14, was captured in Chicago
October 19 while holding up a currency exchange. Prior to that, the police charged, he had committed a series of robberies and rapes.
When the jury read its verdict,
—after only five minutes of deliberation—Kadens rose and cried out:
"I protest. I want to be tried on a death penalty offense and want to be my own lawyer."

Record Waldorf Losing Streak

Evanston, Ill., Nov. 5.—(AP)—Coach Lynn Waldorf of Northwestern says "never before in 18 years of coaching has one of my teams lost four games in a row."

"Northwestern has been ahead only about four minutes all season," the big coach recalls with a rueful grin, "that was near the end of the Texas game and for two plays against the Seahawks."

Texas is the only team Northwestern has beaten, winning 3 to 0, on a field goal kicked by a substitute guard.

Stuhldreher Sees Danger Approaching

Badgers Must Yet Face Hawkeyes, Wildcats, Gophers

Madison, Wis., Nov. 5.—(AP)—"That's shoving us up awfully far," Coach Harry Stuhldreher said apparently today in commenting on the second place ranking given his undefeated Wisconsin team in the nationwide Associated Press poll this week.

"There are still three big ones to go, and the biggest one is this Saturday against Iowa," he said.

"It is not what we did last Saturday, but what we will do this Saturday that counts. We have our fingers crossed."

While the Badger grid boss is worrying about the remaining decisive contests with the Hawkeyes, Northwestern and Minnesota, Badger fans, scenting their first Big Ten title since 1912, are claiming the Badger did it before and can do it again.

History Might Repeat

Dusting off the old record books they found that the 1912 eleven whipped Iowa, 28 to 10; pulverized Northwestern, 56 to 0; and mopped up Minnesota, 14 to 0, and are hoping that history will repeat itself.

And if the numeral seven brings any luck, the Badgers, should breeze through with points to spare.

With one exception the figure seven has turned up in every final score this season. Wisconsin beat Camp Grant, 7 to 0; tied Notre Dame, 7 to 7; defeated Marquette, 35 to 7; whipped Missouri, 17 to 9; sunk Great Lakes, 13 to 7, and stung Ohio State, 17 to 7. If you care for more of this: opponents have scored a total of 37 points against the Badgers.

The exception was the 13 to 0 victory over Purdue. Maybe the 14 four-leaf clovers pasted on the scales in the varsity locker room took care of the Badgers that day.

Chauveurs Local Hill Bros. Tie for Runner-up Spot
TONIGHT'S SCHEDULE

COMMERCIAL LEAGUE Thurs. 7 p. m.

Sparky's Fenders—Dixon Telegraph.
The Stables—Dixon Hatchery.
Reynolds Wire—Myers & Nolan.
National Tea—The Round-Up.

Van Dams clung to its slim lead in the Classic league race last night by downing Shell Oil two out of three.

However, Pabst Blue Ribbon and Boynton-Richards, who formerly shared second-place, were dropped into ties for sixth and fourth, respectively. Pabst bowed to Myers Royal Blue, 3-1 while Boynton-Richards salvaged only one victory in its series with James.

Chauveurs Local and Hill Bros. won three in a row from Old Style Lager and Harmon to take over the vacated runner-up spot, one length off the pace.

McGrahams, which has run into hard times the last couple of times out, was snowed under by Vaile Clothiers yesterday, 3-0.

Country Club Beer and Welch & Brader humbled Canteen Service and Potts' Quality Market, 2-1.

BUILDS LINE OF 60-MINUTE MEN TO RETURN ILLINOIS TO FOOTBALL HEIGHTS... VICTORY OVER MINNESOTA ALONE MAKES BOW SUCCESS.

BOB ZUPPKE GONE AFTER 29 YEARS, ILLINI RALLY AROUND PROGRESSIVE YOUNG COACH...

Little Doc Mobley, Texas Comet, Streaks Along to Grid History

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

Chicago, Nov. 5.—(AP)—There's a comet down in Texas streaking along the ground to football history.

He is Rudolph (Little Doc) Mobley, a 155-pound Hardin-Simmons sophomore—the first fellow who has breezed along since 1937 to jeopardize Whizzer White's great rushing record.

White's mark of 1,121 yards in eight games with Colorado University was expected to survive for years to come. But the 5-foot-10-inch Mobley has uprooted 882 yards in five games—an average of 176 in each, compared with White's 140.

The comet burned up 275 yards last week in the Arizona game to add to his collection against such opposition as Baylor and Southern Methodist. A similar burst against West Texas State this Saturday might well boost him over White's total.

Potent Combination

The American football statistical bureau, ranking Hardin-Simmons first in team rushing, gave a teammate of Mobley's, freshman Camp Wilson, 190-pound fullback, credit for 427 yards. Thus, the freshman-sophomore duo has accounted for all but 314 yards of the team's total.

Bob Steuber of Missouri was second in rushing with 689, followed by Gene Fekete of Ohio State 615; Elroy Hirsch of Wisconsin, 612, and Roy McKay of Texas, 569. Three of the top five are sophomores.

Frankie Sinkwich, the Georgia Peach, was passing and running away in the race for total offense honors. In seven games he had plucked 956 yards from the air and dug up 480 along the ground for 1,436—305 more than Columbia's second place Paul Goversall had produced in six games.

Third in total offense was McKay with 985 yards; Kansas' Ray Evans, 947, and Steuber, 937—all in seven games.

Sinkwich vaulted from fifth to second in pass completions—57 in 107 tries for 956 yards.

Evans Top Passer

Evans maintained first place with 71 bullseyes in 149 shots for 787 yards, but Gene Dobbs of Tulsa had the best percentage of connections, being true with 33 of 51 pitches.

Cullen Rogers of Texas Aggies, on the receiving end for most of Daniels' aerials, led the country with 25 catches for 293 yards. Otto Schnellbacher of Kansas, Evans' battery mate, was second with 21 and 286 yards.

McKay dropped from first to third in punting, giving away to Tennessee's Bob Cifers whose 26 kicks have soared 1,153 yards for a 44.35 average. W. Flynn of Harvard was second with an average of 43.62 on 26 punts. McKay also had kicked the pigskin 26 times, averaging 43.12.

Healo gives relief to aching, tired feet.

Ohio State Is Still Big Ten Gaining Top

Wisconsin Badgers Are Second in Total Offensive

Chicago, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Although Ohio State's Buckeyes suffered their first Big Ten defeat last Saturday, they continue to lead the conference in total offense, followed by the team that beat them, Wisconsin.

The Buckeyes have averaged 362.5 yards in conference play while the Badgers have made 290 yards a game through rushing and passing, the Big Ten service bureau reported today. The figures:

	Yards Rushing	Yards Passing	Total	Aver. Gain Per Game
Ohio State	1208	242	1450	362.5
Wisc.	487	93	580	290
Indiana	374	777	551	275.5
Michigan	571	178	749	240.6
Iowa	508	178	740	235.0
Northwestern	309	573	882	220.5
Minnesota	448	157	645	215
Illinois	335	202	537	179
Purdue	260	236	496	124

The Badgers' game with Iowa Saturday will be the 20th in a series started in 1894. . . . Wisconsin has won 13 and lost only six in the span. . . . The second largest crowd in Michigan football history, 85,042, turned out for the Harvard game in 1929, but only 25,000 were expected Saturday as the teams meet for the eighth time since 1881. . . .

Note to Minnesota—Indiana backs have returned 23 punts 325 yards. . . . The Hoosiers have punted to opposing receivers only nine times, which were returned exactly 26 yards. . . .

Ended In Tie

The first game between Northwestern and Illinois, in 1892, was called because of darkness with the score knotted 16-16. . . . The contest was at Champaign, and only four Northwestern students went downstate to cheer the Wildcats. . . . Since then the teams have clashed 35 times with the Illini holding a 17-15 victory edge, three games ending in ties. . . .

Don Griffin, Illinois' fine junior back, plans to enter the naval air service in February. . . . Great Lakes beat Purdue, 27 to 0, in 1918, with a long forward pass from Paddy Driscoll, now Chicago Bears' assistant coach, to George Halas, Bears' head man who now is in the Navy, starting the scoring for the sailors. . . . Bruce Smith will be the Bluejackets' biggest threat as they again meet Purdue Saturday. . . . Smith has gained 265 yards by rushing and 282 by passing, more than a third of the Great Lakes' total offense. . . .

ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

New York, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Herb (how I tried to get that kid) Kopf, Manhattan's football coach, puts forth what sounds like a sensible explanation for all the grid upsets this season. . . . Herb claims that the mental attitude of the players is responsible for 90 per cent of such surprises; that a team gets just the incentive it needs to win when its in a position to gain the glory that goes with knocking off a favorite and that a "break" early in a game can affect the outcome a lot more than most people think. . .

Methodist Church
James H. Hagerty, minister
"Wherefore, today, if ye will hear his voice, harden not your hearts as in provocation in the day of temptation." Hebrews 3:7-8.

Paw Paw!
10 a. m. Sunday school, Mrs. Carl Kindelberger, superintendent.
11 a. m. Morning worship, "Men Light a Candle".
7:30 p. m. Evening study and prayer.

Tuesday the Triple S class will meet at the church.
Wednesday 3:45 Junior League at the parsonage.

Good will clothing, shoes, bedding, etc., will be collected at the Women's society meeting on the 18th and shipped immediately.

Sunday school library which opened Tuesday contains books on most religious subjects, helps for teachers, reference books, and "loan Bibles". We are to have maps too, as the birthday offering. We urge our people to bring their birthday offering in on the nearest Sunday.

Christian people are going to church more than ever now. There will be a community Thanksgiving service on Wednesday evening, November 25th.

Compton:
9 a. m. Sunday school, Mrs. Dee Thompson, superintendent.
9:45 a. m. Morning worship, "Men Light a Candle".

8 p. m. Friday this week, a devotional hour of hymns, Scripture high thoughts, a part of the National Week of Prayer service.

Thursday, 4:15 p. m. Junior League.
Thursday, 7:30 p. m. Epworth League.

Note change from Wednesday to Thursday.
On November 20th Circle No. 3 of our Women's society is sponsoring a family night to which our church families are all invited.

Church members today must prove their loyalty to the church. No church is any stronger than its weakest member.

Baptist Church
Herman E. Meyer, pastor
10 a. m. Sunday school, Mrs. Forest Brewer, superintendent. Classes for all ages.

11 a. m. Morning worship. Sermon subject, "What Is Your Life?"
7:30 p. m. Evening service. Sermon subject, "The Talk of the Town?"

Inspiration meeting 8 p. m. Thursday evening. Be sure to attend these interesting meetings.

Home Ec Party
Miss Elaine Schlesinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Schlesinger, entertained a group of Home Ec girls at her home Monday evening. A delicious supper was enjoyed by the group and there were a large number of guests present. Mrs. Herbert Volkert and Miss Eleanor Schlesinger helped serve the delicious meal. The evening was spent by dancing. Those present were Audra Manahan, Maxine Spears, Marjorie Rosenkrans, Mrs. Dorothy Urish, Norma Coss, Jean Cooke, Mrs. Paul Wilson, Gayle Willard, Helen Shippy, Dorothy Bittner, Florence Yenerich, Helen Mead, Aliene Manahan, Eleanor Schlesinger, Muriel Reynolds, Mrs. Herbert Volkert, Evelyn Hoelzer, Arline Hanson, Joan Krueger and Corrine Harris, all of Paw Paw.

Builders Class
The members of the Builder's class gathered at the Methodist church Tuesday afternoon for their regular meeting. The usual business transactions took place with a social hour following. Mrs. C. E. Wick, Mrs. John Hawbaker and Mrs. Oakley Durr served a delicious luncheon to the group. A pleasant afternoon was reported by everyone.

Personals
Alden Firkins, who is a patient at the Glidden hospital in DeKalb is doing as well as can be expected at this writing.

Reverend James H. Hagerty is in Chicago Monday through Friday Nov. 9-13, attending a school of evangelism. This is part of a great "life-renewing" program at the Methodist church which will, during November cover the state of Illinois.

Mrs. Floyd Nevins, Mrs. George Amundson and Mrs. Earl Marks were Tuesday afternoon shoppers in LaSalle.

Mr. and Mrs. Hicks Chowning of Marshalltown, Iowa, were in town a few days this week and attended the funeral of Robert Fichtmaster Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. A. D. Martin of Dixon called on friends here in Paw Paw, Tuesday afternoon.

Bill Worsley of Lafayette, Ind. spent the week end at the home of his mother, Mrs. Mabel Worsley.

Helen Mead was an overnight guest Monday of Miss Dorothy Bittner, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Bittner.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Berg of Creston attended a birthday party in honor of Judy Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milford Vance of Rockford, Saturday evening. It was Judy's first birthday and she received many lovely gifts. Judy Ann is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Urey of Paw Paw. Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Smith of Chicago are visiting for a few days at the home of his mother, Mrs. Nettie Smith.

Plans are now being made for the annual community Thanksgiving service on Thanksgiving morning, Nov. 26. It will be at 8:30 a. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Erlenbach and daughter, Shirley and son Merwin called on Mr. and Mrs. Lester Erlenbach Sunday evening.
